

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A display device comprises a display unit which displays an image and can be remotely controlled by a remote controller, and a control unit which magnifies a 5 predetermined information included in the image displayed by the display unit, according to a distance between the remote controller and the control unit.